Bullying happens when a person hurts another person on purpose. A bully might physically hurt or threaten a person. Some bullies tease their victims. There is a difference in power between a bully and a victim; bullies are stronger. Sometimes bullying is done with words only. Bullies may tease a classmate because they are different in some way. They may abuse overweight kids, shy kids, or foreigners. In North America, smart kids who do well in school may also be bullied. When teasing is repeated, and hurts the feelings of a child, it is bullying. Nowadays, bullying occurs on internet communities as well.
