Although there is plenty of food for every person on Earth, hundreds of millions of people go hungry. After many years of decreases, in 2020 the number of hungry people increased again. In addition, over three billion people live on less than $2.50 a day. Sadly, one out of every six children live in poverty. Eight hundred million of these children do not have a good, safe place to live; 400 million do not have safe drinking water; and 270 million do not have healthcare. World Food Day, October 16, was created by the U.N. to teach people about poverty and related problems.
